TWENTY-SECOND YEAR.

DELUGE OF GOLD.

How it Poured Into the New York Treasury.

Twenty-eight Million Piled in Great Heaps.

ON THE VAULT FLOOR.

A Sack Burst and a Wild Scramble.

For the Yellow Boys Followed by Those Near By.

New York, Nov. 30.—The sub-treasury in Wall street is an interesting sight to-day, piled high with sacks of gold coin. From early in the morning the clerks and particularly the corps of receiving officials and special watchmen were working like beavers gathering in the shilling yellow bits of metal.

In all about $28,000,000 came in, great heaps of the stuff have not been permanently vaulted and are lying in bags awaiting the attention of the expert counter who has come on from Washington to assist in manipulating the treasure.

The gold came in all manner of conveyances, but the bulk of it was brought from near by banking houses in honest John Barclay's trucks. The canvas bags in which gold is lugged about before being jugged up were the ordinary receptacles, and those were borrowed by the score from the sub-treasury to come back with their golden loads later on. In all cases temporary receipts were given, and after the count-up these receipts will be extracted, if necessary, and will then form vouchers for the security of the bonds.

The coin rooms are near the Pine street end of the building, and it was along this narrow thoroughfare that the trucks lined up. Sometimes three or four would be backed up at the same time. In a broad layer of the floor of the vault were the dingy duck bags with their double handles, in which were packed the smaller linen bags containing the coin. It was a stout lift to pick up one of the bags, and deposit it on the small platform truck which the sub-treasury employees lackeyed up to the vault. Perched on the side rails of the wagons bringing the gold, were the Barclay drivers and guards, while standing about were the treasury guards. There was no display nor the sign of a uniform except that of the policeman on post, who wandered up to chat with the treasury watchers.

Wall street small boys are too familiar with the hustling about of bullion or silver blocks or coin, either gold or silver, to stop to watch the handling of the treasury bags. So at no time would there be more than a few boys loitering, and they in turn were closely scanned by the treasury officers. Those having business with the treasury department came and went, only looking up at their toes were not nipped by the little trucks with the precious burdens.

It was a sight to see the free and easy style of handling the government's cash. Some of the gold came in couples, with a owner lugging it tightly as the driver hurried toward the sub-treasury. Among those who made use of a couple was Maurice Wormser, who brought $25,000 worth of the yellow coin from an out-of-town bank. The gold was in a large bag, so that two men were needed to lift it. After some exertion and a few emphatic remarks the bag was deposited in the coupe, Mr. Wormser got in, and a start was made for the sub-treasury.

At the Pine street entrance of the latter, the coupe was stopped by a guard. Wormser got out. With the aid of another man the big bagful of precious coin was hauled out of the vehicle and carried up the steps. But here disaster overtook the expedition. Just as the door was reached the bag burst, and glittering gold pieces were flying and rolling over the granite floor.

There was a hasty gathering of guards and police, and then the spectacle was presented of the action of the house of Wormser down on his hands and knees picking up the scattered gold and making a careful count to see that none was lost. He soiled his clothes and dirtied his hands, smashed his hat and swore, but he got the gold—every dollar of it.

The syndicate who got the bonds had a very busy day of it retelling out the securities which they had purchased from the government. It was reported at the close of business that about $4,000,000 had been distributed in this way, and that the indications were that the rush had just begun. So far all that can be given is a receipt, good for so much bonds when the purchaser brings a receipt that the gold has been paid in at the sub-treasury, either direct or through the bond sellers. This insures new gold to the government, and thus far all the $40,000,000 of gold which has been deposited is not gold gains to the government.

It is of course not divulged who the bond buyers were, nor is it yet known public just what proportion of the $50,000,000 has been taken by each of the five firms and corporations making up the purchasing syndicate.

PREDICTS MOLE BONDS.

Ex-Secretary Foster Thinks There Will Be Another Issue in a Few Months.

Denver, Nov. 30.—Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster, who is in Denver at present, was asked whether the secretary has legal power to issue the bonds.

"I do not care to express an opinion," Mr. Foster replied, "but I do not think the legality of the issue will be questioned."

"What do you think about the silver question? Will it be an issue in the next campaign?"

"It may possibly be an issue," said the ex-secretary, "but I think that if the next senate is Republican the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted. I also think that the silver men should be willing to concede something."

ACTRESSES AT WAR.

Lillian Russell and Jessie Bartlett Davis Scold Each Other.

New York, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Davis and Miss Lillian Russell, both pretty women, and both of whom there has been, until a week ago, a close tie of affection and appreciation, have actually indulged in unkindly correspondence about a matter of costumes and dialogue.

Mrs. Davis is the fascinating idol of "Princess Ananias" at the Broadway theater. Lillian has been married three times, and thrice has she been divorced. Now while the unfortunate matrimonial complication is entirely due to the authors, Francis Neilson and Victor Herbert, and Mrs. Davis but follows her lines, some have been unkind enough to say that her remarks were unprofessional in that they reflected upon another professional.

Mrs. Jessie Bartlett Davis was seen on the Broadway theater stage as she was leaving for home. "Yes," she replied, "there is a little feeling between myself and Miss Russell at present, and I'm very sorry for it. It's all due to a newspaper item, too. I do not think that I have always looked upon Miss Russell as a friend. I admire her beauty and her work. I designed all the costumes I wear and then submitted them to the management of the Broadway theater. They were not copies of anything Miss Russell has worn. I did write Miss Russell a very saucy note and I am very sorry I did, but I was mortified that she should pay any attention to the article. She wrote me an equally pointed note. I'm very, very sorry about the whole thing. Now, if I have thought that my lines about being married three times would have been considered to in any way reflect upon Miss Russell I would have objected to them."

LEWELLING GETS OFFICE.

Is Named a Vice-President of the Trans-Mississippi Congress.

St. Louis, Nov. 30.—The final day of the Trans-Mississippi congress session opened with a light attendance, a large proportion of the delegates having left for home last night or this morning.

The following officers of officers were announced, leaving the list very incomplete and to be filled later by communication with the officers of the congress. Among others were:

Oklahoma—Vice president, C. G. Jones, executive committee, Sidney Clark, O. A. Uttschler.

Kansas—Vice president, L. D. Lewelling, executive committee, W. K. Savage, W. H. Toothaker.

Reading of the remainder of the report on resolutions was begun and the following expressions were adopted as the sense of the congress:

Endorsing the recommendations of the recent miners' convention at San Francisco, urging appropriations for dams in certain rivers in that state as being of benefit to hydraulic mining and navigation.

It was also recommended that the terms of the original resolutions be extended to such other states as similar conditions may now, or hereafter exist.

Recommending to the southern states the production of ramie as a means of diversifying the crops of that section. Favoring action of congress extending the provisions of the Carey and Land act to the territories, urging congress to pass acts enabling the admission of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona into the union as states.

CARNEGIE EXPLAINS.

Tell What He Said Instead of "Men Who Die Rich Die Disgraced."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—Andrew Carnegie has addressed to a personal friend in this city the following letter in regard to his reported remark that "Men who die rich die disgraced."

New York, Nov. 30.—My DEAR SIR: Yours of the 24th inst., with inclosures, I find before me upon my return from Pittsburg. It is easy to take a few words from a speech and give a wrong impression. The remarks I made were in a private dinner to the library commission of Pittsburg. Some one must have given the reporter a synopsis. What I have said about wealth is found in my own writings and not in extracts from supposed speeches. I had no reference to men who die leaving incompetencies, for I believe such men are the curse of civilization, but to men leaving millions in securities which they could have used in their lifetime. I said I believed the day would come when such men would die disgraced, and that the tribute of approval would be given to those upon whom I had made the remarks. I truly written: "He lived without ostentation and he died poor," as was said of Pitt.

TO INDICT ROCKEFELLER.

The Requisition Papers Forwarded From Texas For The Millionaire.

New York, Nov. 30.—Under Sheriff McDonough received a letter to-day written on the official letter head of W. L. Burke, sheriff of Lennan county, Texas. It reads:

Waco, Texas, Nov. 23.

To the Sheriff, New York City.

DEAR SIR:—I have to-day mailed your governor, R. P. Flower, requisition papers for John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flagler, John D. Archibald, Benjamin Brewster, Henry H. Rogers, Wesley H. Tilford of your city. When you receive the governor's warrant please execute at once and wire me, and I will come on at once.

Yours to command,

W. L. BURKE.

Sheriff.

The under-sheriff at once forwarded the communication to police headquarters who alone will take steps necessary to put the indicted magnates in custody.

Georgia's War Governor Dying.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30.—Ex-United States Senator Joseph E. Brown, famous as Georgia's war governor and one of the wealthiest men in the south, is in a critical condition at his home here.

The senator has been in ill health for several months suffering from Bright's disease and rheumatism.

TO STOP BRUTALITY.

Supt. Byrnes Talks of Stopping Yale-Princeton Game.

Gives Orders Not to Allow Prize Fighting Methods.

POLICESEEM JEALOUS.

Only One Kind of Beating to be Allowed.

Some Say It is a "Grand Stand Play" of Byrnes.

New York, Oct. 30.—Police Superintendent Byrnes announced today that no exhibition of brutality will be permitted at the Yale-Princeton football game at Manhattan field to-morrow.

Mr. Byrnes instructed Inspector Collins to stop the game if it proved to be anything but a purely scientific contest. The superintendent said he would not allow the players to act like a lot of prize fighters and publicly punish each other for life. The game will be stopped at the first exhibition of brutality.

The members of the football team will get no official notification from the superintendent of his intention. The superintendent argues that if the players are brutal, they are law breakers, and therefore amenable to arrest. If action is taken by the police and resistance is offered, the enthusiasts at Manhattan field may witness some wholesale arrests.

A police official who said that he expressed only as a citizen, said it was his belief that there was not the slightest chance of the game being interrupted, and the superintendent was making a "grand stand play."

"INTER OCEAN" ON KOLB.

Says the Kolb Movement Has a Strong Show of Justice.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—The "Inter Ocean" in a measure justifies the contemplated Kolb resolution in Alabama, in the following editorial:

Matters in Alabama have a very uncomfortable appearance. Kolb and his friends believe that he was elected to the office of governor. Oates and his friends believe that he was not. The face of the returns are favorable to Oates. The Kolb men say that the returns are fraudulent.

In any state having a really free government there would be a plain issue of this contest. A recount of the ballots would be ordered, and made evidence for and against allegations of fraud and violence at the polls would be heard, and a definite conclusion as to the merits of the claimants would be reached.

But, of set purpose, the Democratic party in Alabama has provided that there shall be no law of contest. The majority in the legislature declared the vote of the whole state to be this or so, and there is supposed to be an end to the matter. It is an infamous condition, and one that hardly can fail to provoke revolutionary resistance if persistently maintained against an aggrieved majority.

The Kolb movement, even if it results in violence, will have at least as strong a show of justice as that which resulted in the forcible overthrow of Republican government in Louisiana and other states of the south.

AN ASTOR MADE A COLONEL.

John Jacob Astor Anxious for Military Title and Gets It.

New York, Nov. 30.—Gov. elect Morton's social aggregation of gold-laced sword bearers is growing daily. Today's addition to the list of those who had "accepted positions on his military staff" as given out are:

Archibald Rogers, of Hyde Park, Westchester county, Aide-de-Camp.

John Jacob Astor, New York, Aide-de-Camp.

That the election of the Astor millions would like to be called "Col. Astor," has been known for a week. The acceptance of John Jacob Astor, Archie Rogers and Lisperand Stewart of places on Mr. Morton's staff blows the Four Hundred figure in the social side of the administration battle and warrants a display of gorgousness in society at the state capital this winter such as it has not known for years.

MAY BE A. K. RODGERS.

He is a Third Candidate in the Field.

The question of who will be assistant state treasurer is no nearer settled than it was three days ago.

Harry Overholt and George Seward are still considered to be the leading candidates for the position, but a third Topeka man is now being talked about by the political gossip.

This third man is ex-County Treasurer A. K. Rodgers. Some of Mr. Rodgers very near political friends have started a boom in his behalf and are working for him. One of his most intimate associates says it is nature that Mr. Rodgers would take the place should be offered him.

Treasurer elect Atherton has gone to his home at Russell, and this appointment will not likely be announced for some time.

Governments Recognize Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Hawaiian charge d'affaires, Mr. Frank P. Hastings has received in his current mail information that since the establishment of the republic in Hawaii on July 4 last, the official recognition of the following governments has been received: United States, Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Mexico, Guatemala, and also notice of intents from Germany and Peru.

What the Populists Spent.

The Populist state central committee has not yet completed its statement of expenditures during the late campaign, but Secretary Semple said today that he expects to have it ready to file with the county clerk by next Wednesday.

E. ST. JOHN RESIGNS.

The General Manager of the Rock Island To Leave the Road.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Mr. E. St. John, for the past seven years general manager of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, has resigned that office to accept the vice presidency of the Seaboard Air Line. The resignation will not take effect until January 31 next. Mr. St. John's headquarters as vice president of the Seaboard Air Line will be at Norfolk, Va.

Mr. St. John has been connected with the Rock Island road for the past thirty years, starting as a clerk in the general passenger office at a small salary. It is not definitely known who will succeed Mr. St. John as general manager of the Rock Island, but from indications it is believed that Mr. John M. Egan, formerly general manager of the Great Western, will be appointed to the position.

TWO TOPEKA MEN

May Get Big Rock Island Jobs Because of Mr. St. John's Resignation.

There was not a great deal of surprise in Rock Island circles here regarding the resignation of General Manager St. John. It has rather been expected ever since he was elected vice president of the southern road some days ago.

The rumor in Chicago that John M. Egan would be appointed to the place is not considered with any degree of seriousness here and it is the general impression among the officials that the place will be given to W. L. Allen, formerly of Topeka, who is perhaps better qualified for it than any other man. In that event C. Dunlap, general superintendent, will be made assistant general superintendent, and A. J. Hitt, of Topeka, assistant general superintendent, will advance to the general superintendency.

This is, of course, largely supposition, but it has a good foundation in the facts that Mr. Hitt has been advanced rapidly, that he is a very capable man and is full of conversance with the work, more so than any other man. He is a trusted friend of President Noble and also of W. H. Truesdale, third vice president under whose direct charge he is and would be.

The question of a successor to Mr. Hitt is even more in the dark, but one of the division superintendents may get it. Mr. A. P. Hitt's present assistant, is available but his name has not yet been extensively mentioned in connection with it.

Mr. Hitt is one of the city today and could not be seen.

WAR BETWEEN WOMEN.

The "Living Pictures" Defend Themselves Against Attack of the Reformers.

New York, Nov. 30.—The fight against living pictures being waged by some of the members of the W. C. T. U. has developed into a war between women. It is not at all unlikely that the living pictures will organize and oppose the onslaught of the W. C. T. U. A spontaneous move was made in this direction when the girls employed at the garden theatre met. The result of it was that the following letter was sent to Mrs. Granis:

"DEAR MADAME: As working women of the stage, employed as models in the Killynly living pictures, we thank you warmly for your womanly and sensible opposition to the ignominious crusade against anti-art and suggested by Lady Sumerest. It is undoubtedly true as you remark, that there are no unchaste living pictures exhibited in New York certainly half so shocking as those to be seen displayed in the boxes of the Metropolitan opera house. Your position in this matter is a credit to your heart, brain and Christian spirit. Gratefully yours, (Signed) S. Alma Eggert, Ella Cash, Pauline Bradley, Nellie Burdwin, May Hamilton, Nellie Sinclair, Theresa Douglas, Josie Frost, Lela Williams, Nellie Leomis."

A number of the "living pictures" were introduced in reference to the matter. Said Nellie Sinclair:

"I have no desire to criticize the action of the ladies of the W. C. T. U., but I cannot refrain from remarking that their efforts to take the bread and butter out of our mouths is not what would be expected from women of their class. There is no state of indecency or indecency in the parts we play."

"Do you think I would take part in anything reflecting on my moral character?" asked Pauline Bradley. "I claim that the human figure motionless as it is displayed in the picture is no more suggestive than a marble statue."

S. Alma Eggert and Ella Cash do not speak English. They are Germans and have appeared with Killynly in Europe.

Through an interpreter they said that in Europe no word of condemnation was uttered or heard against the living pictures, and that they had appeared and were surprised to learn of the contemplated crusade. The pictures, too, have been modified since being brought to this country.

"Don't care," May Hamilton said, "but I think it is real mean to start an agitation against us. If marble statues were used instead of human figures, there would be no criticism."

"Yes," interposed Nellie Burdwin, "if the realism was not produced there would be no talk. Still we take many precautions to guard against indecency or anything that smacks of it."

Nellie Leomis and Nellie Williams had quite another kind of argument to offer, and original too. "The fact is," whispered Nellie in an aside, "they are jealous because we have pretty figures."

PEACE ALMOST ARRANGED

United States Intervention Between China and Japan Progresses Well.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Che Foo says that terms of peace between China and Japan have been almost arranged through the intervention of the United States. It is added that the feeling of security is now so strong that foreign ladies are returning to Peking.

Prescott & Co. have removed to No. 118 West Eighth street.

KOLB DOESN'T FLINCH

Still Affirms He Will be Sworn In as Governor.

An Alabama Mine Owner Talks of the Situation.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

The Farmers Are Going to Refuse to Pay Taxes.

A Colony of Texans to be on Hand to Help Kolbits.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Information of the exact programme to be pursued to-morrow by Reuben F. Kolb, the Populist claimant to the governorship of Alabama was made known here today. Thus far Kolb has disclosed only that he and his Populist followers, estimated at about 50,000, would go to Montgomery, take the capital and there demand that Kolb be set in as governor instead of Oates. There have been grave fears of riot and bloodshed as a consequence of the clash of the rival parties and militia of the state now at the state capital.

The national headquarters of the Populist party at Washington has been closed since the election, and Chairman Tatebeck has been in St. Louis the past few days attending the sessions of the bi-metallic league which has been meeting there. Some of his associates in the party are still here however, and make their headquarters in the office of the National Watchman, the organ of the Populist party, and they are kept fully informed of the doings of Kolb and his followers.

Mr. N. A. Dunning, the editor of the Watchman, was asked today what from his information, would be the exact steps taken by Kolb to-morrow. He replied: "Mr. Kolb and the other members of the state Populist ticket will go before a judge or justice of the peace in Montgomery to-morrow morning and take the oath of office to the places to which they were elected. Having done this they will go formally before the state legislature, which is now in session in Montgomery, and lodge a formal protest against the inauguration of Oates, and ask that an investigation be authorized by that body."

"It is necessary to make the protest in this way because there is no contest law in the state, a condition which does not exist in any other state in the union. Our people in Alabama will make vigorous protests in a regular way and rely on our people in the legislature to take up the question and force an investigation. We have forty-four members in that body and the Democrats have eighty-nine. If we could get 20 Democrats to help us it would insure an investigation and put Mr. Kolb in the gubernatorial chair. We will abide by the investigation decision, no matter what it may be, just as soon as we have an opportunity to bring persons and papers and show to the country the evidence of fraud. As we assert was practiced in the last election."

"Will there be any trouble in Montgomery as a result of the events there to-morrow?"

"There may be some trouble, but it will not be serious. We expect the entire state militia has been invited to the city and there will be a great number of strangers in the city and more or less drinking, and this may result in a collision between the people. It looks to us as if the other side were seeking trouble. All talk of treason on the part of the Populists is a result of the attempts of Mr. Kolb and his associates to be sworn in is without foundation."

Throughout the campaign Kolb was in constant telegraphic communication with the Populist national headquarters in this city, and since that time his address has been sent many long letters here claiming that gross frauds were perpetrated and that in the late election that Kolb was honestly elected and is entitled to his seat.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS.

An Alabama Mine Owner Feels There Will Be Trouble.

St. Louis, Nov. 30.—Mr. J. E. Jackson, of Birmingham, Ala., an extensive owner of coal mines in Walker county, who is stopping in this city for a few days, in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, had this to say in regard to the condition of affairs in his state growing out of the gubernatorial contest between Kolb and Oates:

"The situation in Alabama growing out of Kolb's threatened contest for the gubernatorial chair is a very serious one and will materially affect all business interests of that state. The insurance companies are already very much alarmed and are talking about cancelling all outstanding policies in view of the prospect of a revolution that may be inaugurated on December 1, the effect and duration of which no one can foresee."

"It has leaked out from most reliable authority that at a secret meeting recently held by leading Populists in the state, it was determined to advise all who supported Kolb in the last state election to refuse to pay taxes to the Oates government. Kolb's followers, who are mostly farmers, will hail with delight any excuse to refrain from paying taxes as the low price of cotton has almost bankrupted them."

"Their refusal to pay taxes will decrease the receipts of the state treasury over $1,000,000. Grave fears are entertained all over the state, but especially in this feeling intense in the mining districts of Birmingham and all along the lines of the Louisville & Nashville railroad."

"Private telegrams have been made public that a large number of Populists from Texas will be in Montgomery December 1, to aid the Kolb followers. It is expected that fully 50,000 people will be in Montgomery to back Kolb."

"It is reliably reported that Kolb will set up a separate state government, and in case he finds that he cannot hold his own at Montgomery will retire to Calera, sixty miles north of Montgomery, where he will be backed by the surrounding counties, and sustained by a standing army, and his government supported by the counties friendly to him paying taxes to his government."

TO REFLEVIN THE BODY.

A Strange Pious Over the Corpses of Charles Sederstrom.

There is trouble about the possession of the body of Charles Sederstrom, who was killed in the court house accident yesterday.

Coroner Bailey ordered the body taken to Knight's morgue, where the Inquest was held. Last night a committee from the Swedish society went to Knight's and asked that the body be turned over to De Moss & Fenwick. F. V. Friesen, who had charge of the body for Mr. Knight, refused to turn the body over until the charges for embalming of $50 were paid and an order was secured from the coroner. The committee then went away, and this morning they secured the order from the coroner, who also stated that Contractor George W. Evans would bear the expense. The undertaker still refused to turn over the body until the money was paid. The men refused to pay the charges and went away.

They went to Justice Furry and asked him to assist them in securing the remains. He told them that they would rather not issue any papers and the men then went to the county attorney, who told them they might attach the body. This they decided to do.

The men claim that no one authorized the embalming of the body, but the undertaker says they told him they wanted to keep the corpse until Sunday and he deemed embalming necessary.

The committee from the Swedish society is composed of Chas. Johnson, John Carlstrom, E. Ekman, John Watts and J. Rodell.

NO LARGE DOCKET.

Thanksgiving Didn't Increase the Police Court Business a Bit.

Thanksgiving did not create the least excitement in the police courts. There were only three cases in court this morning and they were all small. Wade Watts, a white man whose feelings had been touched by a man who presented a bill to him and who had whipped the man, was assessed $10.

Will Jenkins, who drove over the fire hose in North Topeka last Sunday was tried but the judge didn't know about fining him so he held the sentence over until to-morrow.

Will Lynch a young colored man who had been arrested with a suspicious quantity of harness rings in his possession is being held until more can be found out about it.

There was one Thanksgiving fight reported. A few of the colored brothers and sisters had a little rag out at the home of Dick Justin on West Sixth street last night and Officer Dagg heard there was a fight there. He went out and was met at the door by an outpouring of colored humanity that nearly knocked him down, and somebody in the crowd made a stab at him with a razor, cutting his lip and chin just a little and opening the front of his overcoat. Dagg started to run after the man he thought did it, but stumbled and fell and the fellow got away.

PEACEFUL REVOLUTION.

Dr. George Herron Discusses "The Social Regeneration."

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 30.—Dr. George D. Herron, the Christian socialist, and Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs, of Boston, addressed the convention of the school of the Kingdom in Plymouth Tabernacle yesterday upon the subject, "The Social Regeneration."

Dr. Herron outlined the different plans of social reform now being advocated by leading political economists and socialists. He believed according to his peaceful revolution, which, to the people, who will be both the instruments and subjects of the change, will be unnoticeable until it shall have been consummated. Dr. Dickinson lectured on "The Church of Christ and the Social Regeneration." He addressed dominical toleration and plainer methods of preaching.

HE TURNED OUT TOUGH.

Detectives Hunting Chief Justice Fuller's Son-in-Law.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 30.—The reputation of J. Marshall Aubrey, son-in-law of Chief Justice Fuller, is having additional holes knocked in it as new disclosures come in. Two City Hall detectives are hot on the trail of the alleged forger. At a late hour this afternoon the young man had not been arrested. He has victimized friends and acquaintances by borrowing right and left, and has taken himself and his grip out of hotels without paying his board.

A warrant was issued yesterday by Justice Foster for the arrest of James Matthew Aubrey, who, about five years ago, eloped with the daughter of Chief Justice Fuller, for forging the name of Melville W. Fuller to a check for $50 on the Atlas National bank.

BRIDGE LUMBER BAD.

The New Bridge Inspector Will Reject Much of It.

The mayor has appointed C. K. McDowell inspector in charge of the repairs on the Kansas avenue bridge. McDowell is a builder and contractor and is regarded as a very competent man. The salary is $50 per month.

McDowell has found that very little of the lumber received last week by the contractor is up to the specifications and he will reject much of it. This may occasion more delay in repairing the bridge as the contractor must wait for new lumber.

Nortonville Bank Robbers.
